The 100-percent SmartWool knit sweater is comfortable and has a flattering standup rib-knit collar with an inside contrasting color, and front patch hand pockets. There's also a two-way metal zipper, and the women's sweater includes contrast tubular knit at the shoulders and raglan sleeves. (800) 550-WOOL, www.smartwool.com.

STEEL GOOD

Jewelry is one of the last things you want to get wet. However, Tarma Designs' earth-friendly jewelry allows you to accessorize any time you're in marine environments. A standout piece is the miniature Shell Earrings ($19.98) with the engraved Tarma logo. These nautical-inspired earrings are water-resistant and designed to sustain the outdoors. Crafted from recycled 316L stainless steel, these earrings are durable yet lightweight, and since they have a polished finish that will never tarnish, they're the perfect accent to any outfit. These drug-free wrist bands are great for the mother-to-be who enjoys boating or boaters who occasionally get motion sickness in the water. Fashionable and functional, the waterproof Psi Bands come in a variety of funky color combinations and are worn on both wrists at the acupressure points. With three settings to choose from, you can personalize the bands for comfort while alleviating nausea. Bands come in sets of two. (831) 373-7712, www.psibands.com.

GIVE THE BOOT

Have your feet planted securely in harsh marine conditions with a pair of Sebago's Marine Squall ($160) boots for men and women. As pull-on high boots, the Marine Squall guarantees balance and stability on cold and wet surfaces with the Sebago Vibram Monoon Cupsole rubber soles. Other beneficial details are the waterproof leather and Cordura mesh uppers, and brushed polyester fleece lining, which includes Thermolite insulation so the legs and feet stay dry and warm. There's also an adjustable elastic cord collar closure for added protection and a snug fit. (800) 789-8586, www.sebago.com.
